

Roman Blinds

Product Information and Specifications

Nomad blinds stocks two different systems in its range of Roman Blinds. Both Systems are high quality but have their differences.

The JAI No Sew System

The JAI No Sew System is available in cord or chain driven options with rear battening or front and rear battening. The fact that it is a no sew system means that Nomad can manufacture your roman blind more efficiently while maintaining all the same functionality of a sew system roman.

The Blindware No Sew Motorised System

The Blindware No Sew Motorised system is an upgrade option which allows you to motorise your roman. The system has all the same battening options as the JAI system with the only difference being it is capable of being controlled by either a remote control or through a home automation system.

Battening

Nomad uses the JAI Battening System which gives options for standard rear battening in white birch to match the backing of most blackout fabrics or with the additional option of front battening in a range of different colours and timber looks.
